

YOU ARE INVITED TO OUR PARENT EDUCATION WORKSHOP: Parents As Career Coaches

Hi Everyone,

A large part of my new business as a Young Adult Career Coach is parent education. You play a huge role in ensuring your child's career success! Your child actually begins to give you clues about their future career options very early in life. Your observations of your child can lead to some very interesting career conversations through the years.

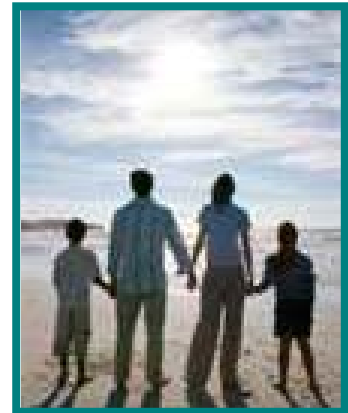

This class is not about forcing "talks"... but it is about gently guiding your children to look at their skills and preferences and channeling these unique internal resources towards the wider World of Work.

You are welcome to attend my first workshop:

Parents As Career Coaches

During the class you will learn:

- How your observations can lead to career conversations
- How children first learn about work and careers
- How to help your child analyze their skills
- Exploring the World of Work with your child

If you have "Tweens," Adolescents, or Young Adults in your home or your care, this class is for you! By the time your child is in junior high school it is time to begin these career conversations.
